Students will demonstrate their application of course content in their own lives and ministry through established methods of theological reflection, such as journaling; inquiry-based learning; and open and guided discussion in small groups, either online or residentially. Students will formulate a rule of life incorporating practices of discipleship and self-care, and reflect on the seasons of the Church year. Disciple Formation 2 is required for Master of Divinity students. ## Course Requirements and Grading

The challenge in ministry and life is learning how to prioritize space for God and deepening intimacy with God--practices which are mostly invisible, unrewarded, and often, seemingly unnecessary. Regularly engaging the course materials and practices can build a habit of deepening intimacy with God. This course uses a covenant grading approach in order to focus on the consistent practice of spiritual disciplines over time, rather than making a judgment about the quality of practice. It gives you the choice and visible responsibility for completing course discipleship practices. All students will complete the common practices and commit to a path. Different seasons require different amounts and sets of practices. God loves you no matter what! Please decide which path you will be pursuing by January 18. You can change your path at any point in the semester.

Common Practices for All Students:

- Designate an intentional time and place for listening and responding to God. It is encouraged to use the work of this course as the practices for that time with God.
- Regular engagement on-line for distance students or attendance in class for residential students. Please see attendance policy.
- Regular participation in a worshipping community as a worshipper; campus students - regular participation in UDTS prayer and chapel opportunities.
