

Summer 2024

MN709, Leadership of Reformed Worship

Instructor: Timothy M. Slemmons

3 credits; Letter grade or P/F (with instructor permission)

Prerequisites: None

This 8-week course is highly recommended for Presbyterian students.

This course will introduce students to the particular scriptural, historical, and theological principles of worship in the Reformed tradition, with special emphasis on the current worship resources and practices of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

Course Objectives

By participating fully in this class, students will:

- Develop a working understanding of the history, theology, and practices of Reformed worship, including the sacraments
- Gain proficiency in the use of the "Directory for Worship" and other denominational resources of the PC(USA).
- Grow in the ability to plan and implement worship services that nurture Christian faith and character and evince the essential dynamics, elements, and ordering of Reformed worship;
- Nurture the capacity to think theologically and critically about how Reformed worship services are ordered.
- Prepare for the PC (USA) ordination examination on Worship and Sacraments.
